Hello dear,
 I have a non-existent work experience to do my job, I mean, no clue whatsoever, and still I landed it. I guess there's no experience required. I've got a nice and shiny red wheelbarrow, a cobra which is a gift from the people of Morocco. I've also got a level, a saw, a pipe wrench, and a hammer in a bag. I've also got a yellow helmet, some pliers, an adjustable wrench, a cutter, a philips screwdriver, a measuring tape, and a delicious ice cream too because I'm worth it.

Hi, I'm not a medical doctor. My fellow countrymen in Ethiopia consider me a terrorist and yet somehow I can tell you and your parents when is time to go to bed. I've got a king cobra in a bag with some hedge trimmers and a pipe wrench tool. I've also got a watering can, a measuring tape, a cutter, a square shovel, some pliers, a wrench, a wheelbarrow loaded with potatoes, a clamp, a construction-safety yellow helmet, and a green apple because I deserve so.
